

A peaked cloud profile delivers $\approx 3\times$ more mass on target than the uniform-disc assumption, at every cloud size

